- FY 09 Overview Results

Purpose

- MCO 3060R.17B
- “In order to support force deployment, units of the SMCR are to maintain a high state of readiness for mobilization and subsequent deployment in support of current plans.”
- MORDT now FRAAP

Inspection Philosophy

- Deployment vs. Mobilization
- “Relevant and Reliable” vs. redundant information
- Deploy, Fight, Win, Survive
 - Not a matter of capability of mobilization but rather a question of what's the cost to the GFC, the Unit, the Marine and the Community?
- Four functional areas;
Admin, Medical, Log, Manpower/Ops

Program Overview

- Structure
 - 36 Marines in the Unit (22 Officers, 14 SNCOs)
 - 5 Marines augment as needed
 - 4 USN
 - 8 USMC Officers as MCLOs
 - Typical inspection team is 4 USMC & 1 USN

Unit Selection Criteria

- 2009 Force Structure Info
- 61,470 MFR billets (AD, AR, IMA, MTU, SMCR, USNR, TBD, etc)
- 35,639 Total SMCR/USNR
 - 33,475 SMCR
 - 2,164 USNR
- Marine Forces Reserve consists 550 different units.
 - 185 Site Support units
 - 365 SMCR units (HQ, CO, Sqn, Det, etc)
- There are approximately 313 RUCs and 386 MCCs.

Unit Selection Criteria

- 365 SMCR units
- 172 SMCR units have 75+ billets
- 8 additional sites have units, who combined have billets totaling 75+

Unit Selection Criteria

- Currently operating at 75+ billet threshold
- With the 75+ billet requirement, (using either 172 or 180 units), the “Normal” average number of monthly Assessments required would be:
 - 180 divided by 24 months = 7.5
 - 180 divided by 22 months = 8.2
 - 180 divided by 20 months = 9.0
